<doc>

Welcome to the Qingdao Agricultural University and Qingdao Normal University

The Qingdao Agricultural University and Qingdao Normal University are renowned institutions in China, offering a wide range of academic programs. The University has a strong focus on agriculture, veterinary science, and educational studies, with a significant international presence.

Qingdao Agricultural University was founded in 1951 and is located in Qingdao, Shandong Province. It is one of the top agricultural universities in China, offering degrees in various fields including agriculture, veterinary science, education, engineering, and more.

Qingdao Normal University, on the other hand, was established in 1947 and is known for its strong educational programs. It offers undergraduate and graduate degrees in fields such as education, psychology, and business.

Both universities have strong international partnerships and collaborations, providing their students with opportunities to study abroad and participate in international projects.

If you are interested in learning more about these institutions or studying at them, please visit their official websites for more information.

---

Qingdao Agricultural University

Address: No. 310, Shandong Provincial Road, Qingdao, Shandong Province, China

Website: http://www.qau.edu.cn

Qingdao Normal University

Address: No. 200, Xueyuan Road, Qingdao, Shandong Province, China

Website: http://www.qdu.edu.cn

---

Please visit the official websites for the latest information and contact details.